Highlights European Parliament 2004-2009 - Terrorism & security

Parliament has supported measures to fight terrorism and to improve security, to react to new challenges the European Union was facing, while at the same time making sure legislation guaranteed core democratic values. MEPs were critical of CIA anti-terrorist activities in Europe and of agreements on data sharing with US authorities. During this legislature, Parliament has also revised existing legislation on civil aviation security, gun ownership and money laundering.
